Hi Everyone, it’s Grace,

I can’t believe how quickly things changed! It has been 2 weeks since school closed for some of us. I hope you are all having fun, working hard at home and not missing your friends too much. In my house my mum and dad are able to work from home, so they can help me. I have made myself a timetable; maybe you could make one as well. I have also been baking with my mum and they turned out great.

From Grace

Hi Everyone, it’s Goda.

It has been a little lonely not seeing all of your friends at school, hasn’t it? It is going to be quite tricky as well over time as we can’t go out as much.

Here are some ideas on what to do for the next week or even this weekend.

• You could make a marble run out of toilet rolls
• Make an obstacle course with the things in your room or even tidy it.
• You could also build a fort out of cushions it would be like a cinema just without the cinema!
• Create your own book.

I have tried creating my own mall and roller coaster out of Lego and it worked; you could try something like that too (if you have lego).

As we all know, we don’t have P.E because we are not at school but there are some good sessions on YouTube such as P.E with Joe Wicks and a dance session with Oti on Facebook – try them out but make sure you tell your parents first.

CHALLENGE OF THE WEEK
Let’s bake something? To make it more special I choose a theme – Spring!

Layden’s top tips of what to do at home:

Things you can do at home are limited but there are still activities to do that can keep you occupied.

1. Mrs. Smith’s new hobby at home is sketching, why not give it a try?
2. Instead of playing on devices all day, you can go outside in your back garden, if you have one.
3. Of course, you have school work to do, but you can always take a break from that by playing a board game with your family to get free from the stress of working at home.
4. A simple thing to do when you get bored is just to read a book, since after all, our school was promoting reading this school year and that shouldn’t change at home.
5. Gather up some coloured pencils or pens and do a bit of relaxing colouring, no shame in a bit of relaxation.
6. Why not turn on some soothing music and do a bit of yoga if you are stressed out?

Message from George our Head Boy:
“Stay safe and stay at home everyone!” 😊

Message from Niamh our Head Girl
“I am missing you all so much but we need to stay safe. Thank you to all the teachers for sending us work to complete.”

When the weather is nice, try and get outside…even if you are working!
